High Velocity Leadership shows how Muirhead and his team proved not only that "Faster, better, cheaper" can work but that's it an excellent way to get things done. He and coauthor Simon walk readers through the project from conception to triumphant completion, giving each chapter a didactic spin. High Velocity Leadership requires teams that know how to optimally balance Team Culture and Team Productivity to drive quick, sustainable results. Our research also exposed a clear need for teams to become adroit users of strategically selected and integrated technologies to maximize the efficiency and velocity of communication. 2.
